Mr. Taylor has extensive experience in the areas of estate planning, taxation, civil tax controversies, probate, estate and gift taxation, fiduciary income tax, individual taxation, closely-held business taxation and the taxation of real estate transactions.

From 1975 to 1979, Mr. Taylor worked in the Atlanta office of the IRS as an attorney in the estate and gift tax group. There he gained substantial experience in estate and gift tax, fiduciary income tax and tax procedure. From 1980 to 1984, Mr. Taylor worked as a tax manager for the accounting firm of Arthur Young & Company (now Ernst & Young).

Mr. Taylor is a member of the Estate Planning and Probate Section of the Atlanta Bar Association and the Fiduciary Law and Taxation Law sections of the State Bar of Georgia. He is also a member of the Atlanta Estate Planning Council and a member of the Emory Gift Planning Advisory Council.

After receiving his bachelor's degree from the University of Georgia, Mr. Taylor attended the Cumberland School of Law at Samford University, where he earned his J.D. He has an LL.M. in Taxation from Emory University Law School.

Mr. Taylor served as a captain in the U.S. Army Reserve from 1971 to 1983. In addition to his law practice, Mr. Taylor is an avid real estate investor, having previously owned a local real estate franchise.
