

Ingwersen & Taylor exemplifies dedication to its clients and community. Our attorneys are dedicated to helping individuals and families plan and accomplish their estate planning goals comprehensively, skillfully and with care and concern throughout all stages of life. We know that everyone seeks to preserve their assets, protect their families and loved ones, and leave lasting legacies.

Advanced degrees in taxation and accounting, IRS work experience and years of working with families and businesses equip us to deliver advice and solutions for our clients' estate, business and tax challenges. For more than 25 years, clients have turned to us to educate them, to provide them with guidance and to help implement effective plans for their needs. They have received our personalized, focused attention and have felt secure in the guidance we have provided to safeguard their legacies.

Our clients. Our approach.

We represent individuals, businesses, trusts, estates, and tax-exempt organizations throughout Georgia, Florida and Arizona. Over the years, Ingwersen & Taylor has evolved into a multi-jurisdictional, multilingual and multi-generational law firm to match the unique needs of our diverse client base.

Listening to and understanding our clients' goals helps us take a more proactive and informed approach to help them plan for the turns and bends in the road ahead.

Our community. Our support.

Beyond the office, we also show our dedication in the community in which we reside. Our firm maintains a culture of volunteerism. Individual attorneys will serve on community boards or volunteer time to nonprofits and area organizations; and as a firm, attorneys have volunteered time with Hands On Atlanta, Atlanta Food Bank, Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure, the Multiple Sclerosis Foundation and Georgia Parent's Support Network.
